URI GreenShare Garden School Day

April 3, 2010

8:30AM—4:00PM

Attention gardeners! This Spring it's time to get back to your gardening roots -

the GreenShare way!

This year's classes at the RWP Botanical Center will focus on sustainable methods of growing food in your own backyard! Growing food is fun, but it is also a great way to save money* and keep you and the environment healthy.

Two family classes will be offered for children ages 6-12 that will be hands-on, informative, and a great way to connect them to the natural world!

The RWP Botanical Center will be open to the public and will host a variety of our partner groups (listing on back) to help answer all those tricky gardening related questions.

Be sure to bring a sample of your soil for a free pH test performed by the URI Master Gardeners!

* According to the National Gardening Association, on average, a well-kept food garden "yields a $500 return when considering a typical gardener's investment and the market price of produce."

Family Classes

Family classes are for 1 adult and 1 child, age 6-12. The child must be accompanied by parent or guardian at all times while attending class.

“Bucket Gardening”

Priscilla Purinton—RI Begonia Society

A hands-on class focused on understanding where our food comes from and how to grow it! Students will leave with a container full of edible plants to raise at home.

“Carnivorous Plants”

New England Carnivorous Plant Society

Learn how these amazing plants have evolved to trap insects and even small animals to meet their nutritional needs!

Adult Classes

“Compost 101”

Sejal Lanterman-URI Master Composter program

Growing healthy plants begins with healthy soil. Find out everything you need to know to start up a compost pile – indoors or out!

“Companion Planting”

Michael Ford-Apollo Herbs

Learn about companion plantings and their benefits and advantages to your garden.

“Nurturing the Organic Bounty”

*Sharyn Iannuccilli -President, URI Master Gardeners
Roseanne Sherry-URI Master Gardener Program*

Learn how to use sustainable methods to help keep your garden healthy and fruitful.

“Harvesting, Cooking & Preserving”

Frank Terranova—Johnson & Wales University

Take it from the host of NBC’s “Cooking with Class”; home-grown food from backyard gardens saves money, tastes better and can be preserved for future use!
