DIRECTIONS

For financial aid purposes, the Winter J term is considered a non-standard term. Therefore, enrollment in the Winter J term is combined with the Spring 2015 term enrollment for financial aid eligibility determination. For billing purposes, the Winter J term and Spring term are separate terms. Students taking Winter J term classes are eligible to have their financial aid Cost of Attendance (COA) budget for the Spring term increased for the related costs of this term. Allowable Winter J term costs are tuition and fees, books, and certain travel expenses. The primary source of additional financial assistance for the Winter J term will be Parent (PLUS) loans and alternative loans.

SECTION 5. Certification

Winter J term financial aid eligibility is reviewed and based on the enrollment information provided at the time of submission. The student must notify Enrollment Services immediately of any changes to their enrollment status. Failure to provide timely notification of enrollment changes may result in a balance owed on your bill. If you attend during the Winter J term and do not return for the Spring term, your financial aid eligibility may change.

I have read and understand the above information.
