

University College and General Education Committee Report #2008-09-3

The UCGE Committee met on March 5, 2009 and considered the following matters:

I. Informational:

The UCGE Committee agreed to the following policy with regard to changes to courses already approved for the General Education program:

In instances where the number, title, credits, or description of a course approved for General Education is changed and neither the content nor the skills are modified, the University College and General Education Committee does not require that the course be reconsidered. In instances where changes are made to the core area content and/or the integrated skills, the UCGE Committee requires that the course be resubmitted following procedures for approval for the General Education program.

II. Requires Confirmation:

The UCGE Committee recommends that the Faculty Senate approve LET 151 topic: Introduction to Native American History for the Letters (L) core area of the General Education program:

LET 151 topic: Introduction to Native American History (examining human differences, reading complex texts, writing effectively) Diversity
