

Graduate Assistantship Opening (Starting Fall 2008)

URI Web Development Group

Office Hours: M-F 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Work Location: 210 Flagg Road, Kingston Campus
Start Date: September 2008
Job description:

The Web Development Group (<http://www.wdg.uri.edu/>) at the University of Rhode Island invites applications for a graduate assistantship position for the 2007-2008 academic year. The position is renewable every year thereafter depending on job performance. Work during summer months is available at graduate hourly rate. This position offers a graduate student valuable professional experience related to Web technologies. Specific functions include:

- Assist in coding scripts (both client-side and server-side) and creating database-driven Web projects, using standard cross-platform tools and technology (e.g., Javascript, CSS, PHP, MySQL, AJAX...)
- Assist with managing Web sites and projects and providing ongoing technical support.
- Research, analyze and evaluate new standards, technologies and trends and recommend Web development options.
- May be required to meet with clients and analyze and document client technical and business requirements and then help implement and deliver appropriate solutions.
- Develop and maintain online tutorials and technical documentation for Web sites and projects.
- Assist in maintaining coding guidelines, code library and providing appropriate accounts, resources and tools for student developers.
- Assist with recruitment, selection, and training of student Web developers and designers.
- Maintain servers, software and DNS services as necessary.
- Other duties as assigned

Job qualification:

This position is a full-time, 9 month position reporting to the University Webmaster. The assistantship includes a tuition waiver for 12 credit hours per semester. To qualify, a candidate must be accepted into a matriculating graduate degree program and must be registered for at least 6 credits for the fall semester at time of application and completes 20 hour work per week.

To Apply:

If interested, please contact the University Webmaster, Email: lchen@uri.edu, Phone: (401) 874-4638. Applicants are recommended to submit samples of their work as part of the application process if available.