

Special Features

Literary Colloquium

The literary colloquium, or "Encuentro Literario," offers Program B students the opportunity to meet personally and converse with the artist/writer of the very works/s they may be studying in class. Some of the literary figures who have been guest speakers in the colloquium include: Novelist Luis Landero, José María Merino, Luis Mateo Díez, Juan José Millás, Eduardo Alonso, Almudena Grandes Ana María Matute, Alfredo Bryce Echenique and poets Carlos Bousoño, José Hierro, and Arcadio López-Casanova, Luisa Castro, and playwright,

This summer, students will hear and meet poet Antonio Colinas.

Critics-in-Residence

Always a distinguished person from the academic world, the critics-in-residence is available to all students for any question/explanation they may have concerning the course/society/culture at hand.

Past Critics-in-Residence include:

Prof. Enrique Pupo-Walker, Vanderbilt University
Prof. Alfredo Hermenegildo, University of Montreal
Prof. Francisco Ruiz-Ramón, Vanderbilt University
Prof. and critic Angel Basanta, literary critic, ABC and La Razón, Madrid
Prof. David Hertzberger, University of Connecticut
Prof. Gilbert Paolini, Tulane University
Prof. Luis Fernández-Cifuentes, Harvard University
Prof. Efrain Barradas, University of Florida at Gainesville
Prof. Ana Roca, Florida International University
Prof. Alejandro Mejías-López, University of Indiana
Prof. Nina Molinari, University of Colorado at Boulder
Prof. Ana Maria Amar Sanchez, University of California, Irvine
Prof. Frederick De Armas., University of Chicago
Prof. Miguel Gómes, University of Connecticut
Prof. Liliana Paredes, Duke University
Prof. Arcadio López-Casanova, University of Valencia, Spain
Professor Mercedes Niño-Murcia, University of Iowa
Professor Anna María Escobar, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign

The critics-in-residence for the Summer 2012 Program are Professor Ana María Amar Sánchez, University of California –Irvine (Latin American Literature and Culture) and Professor Mercedes Niño-Murcia, University of Iowa (Linguistics and Second Language Acquisition)