

New Email System for Students: @my.uri.edu (Google Email)

We are pleased to announce that based on the requests and suggestions from students, and supported by research, the Office of Information Technology Services has migrated the University's mail.uri.edu system to a new Google-hosted email system named my.uri.edu. It is now ready for you to use!

Log in to my.uri.edu:

- The link to the new email system, my.uri.edu, is located at the bottom of the Kingston campus URI home page along with links to e-Campus, Sakai, Webmail, etc. The URI/Providence home page displays the link to my.URI.edu under Quick Links, in the left index of the page. You can login directly by entering my.uri.edu in your browser address line.
- Your email userid and password for my.uri.edu are the same as the current userid and password that you use for Sakai, Wireless, or WebMail. Your new email address will look like: jdoe@my.uri.edu.

Forwarding your email:

- On May 23, 2010, all new incoming student email sent to @mail.uri.edu will be forwarded automatically to @my.uri.edu. As of this date, all your official URI email will be sent directly to @my.uri.edu. Automatic forwarding of new email will continue until September 1, 2011.

If you have already forwarded your email to another email system, you will continue to receive email at your forwarded address. If you have not and would like to forward your mail.uri.edu address yourself, go to www.uri.edu/its/communications/email.html and select Forwarding Your Email under Students. Proceed according to instructions.

Dates to remember:

 May 23, 2010 *****

@my.uri.edu becomes your official URI email address to which all official URI business email will be sent. All new email sent to your @mail.uri.edu address will be forwarded to your new @my.uri.edu address.

July 1, 2010

On July 1, 2010, access to your mail.uri.edu address will be shut off. If you discover that you left something you need on mail.uri.edu, contact the Help Desk and request that your mail.uri.edu address be turned on again temporarily.

October 1, 2010

On October 1, 2010, all student mail.uri.edu addresses will be deleted. Anything left there will be lost.

September 1, 2011

Automatic forwarding of incoming email sent to mail.uri.edu will be discontinued September 1, 2011. After that, all email must be sent to your @my.uri.edu address in order for you to receive it.